SATURDAY AUGUST 10, 1912

No honor, no reward, however great, can be equal to the subtle satisfaction that a man feels when he can point to his work and say, "The task I promised to perform with all loyalty and honesty to the utmost of my ability is finished."—Henry M. Stanley.

A PLAIN PATH FOR THE VOTERS

"I intend to run for delegate next November on a platform indorsing unreservedly my protest against the Frear administration."—Delegate Kuhio in the Star-Bulletin, July 1, 1912.

"I have never asked the Republican party as a party to take up the Frear-Kuhio controversy; on the contrary, I have consistently urged that the party take no part in it."

"I have said above that I am a Republican, which means that I will abide by the action of the Republican convention. The only qualification I should make to this would be that, if it should transpire that the convention was controlled and dominated by coercion and bribery, and that its action by reason of this should not fairly represent the wishes of the Republican voters, I would not feel bound by it."—Delegate Kuhio in the Star-Bulletin, August 9, 1912.

Delegate Kuhio is on record. He is on record by virtue of the deadly parallel between the two statements published above, less than two months apart. He is on record not as a staunch Republican, but as a candidate for delegate who asks Republican votes but does not support Republicanism in Hawaii unless the territorial convention upholds him in his fight against the governor.

On July 1 the delegate over his signature declared that he would make his campaign this fall on an anti-Frear platform. On August 9 he declares that he will abide by the action of the Republican convention unless it should be controlled by bribery and coercion.

To put it plainly, those two statements mean, if they mean anything, that Kuhio intends to force his controversy against Frear into the Republican fall campaign.

And yet Kuhio on August 9 also says that he has "never asked the Republican party as a party to take up the Frear-Kuhio controversy." Perhaps he is not "asking." In fact, he is "demanding" this personal issue of the party.

Delegate Kuhio's letter in reply to the businessmen's committee, published in this paper yesterday, is not the clean-cut statement that the Republican voters of this territory have a right to expect of the man who is to head their ticket in the fall campaign.

The delegate does not deny the right of citizens to question him as to his attitude. But what are his answers to the questions?

Question No. 1: Will you agree to the entire elimination of the Frear-Kuhio controversy at the Republican convention?

This question the delegate does not answer. He says that he "consistently urged" the party not to take a hand in this controversy. This statement is sufficiently disposed of above. But not in his two columns of reply does the delegate fairly and squarely agree to eliminate that controversy now. He sidesteps.

Questions 2 and 3 inquire as to whether he will remain in the party and support it whether or not he is nominated.

His answer to these is that he will abide by the action of the convention unless it should be controlled by coercion or bribery. This is no answer at all. The delegate reserves to himself the right to decide whether the convention is "controlled" and the loophole he thus conveniently leaves open is evidence enough that he is willing to run as an independent, as a bolter, if the convention does not go to suit him. Again he sidesteps.

The three closing questions relate to general questions of policy on which a yes or no answer could not be expected. The delegate answers them in a general way. As to the views on public policy he submits, they are no more than any good citizen ought to hold. His strictures, by the way, on the government's attempt to discourage fake homesteading are not supported by the facts as determined in the territorial supreme court.

Kuhio's answer has a superficial cleverness. He answers definite questions by replies that are neither definite nor to the point.

The one supreme test of Kuhio's sincere regard for his party and the unity of that party was the test as to whether he would eliminate the disastrous gubernatorial controversy from the campaign this fall.

He failed to meet this test. He failed to say the word, to make the move, that would lead to party unity and Hawaii's political harmony and welfare.

There can be but one thing now for loyal Republicans, for men who realize the gravity of the situation, to do, one course to follow. The businessmen of this community have proposed for delegate a man upon whom the voters can well unite. That man is the Hon. J. M. Dowsett. Kuhio's path leads to disaster, enmity, spite, irresponsibility; it leads to chaos. The thinking men of this territory cannot afford to follow it.

SETTLE STRIKES WITHOUT STRIKING

The Inter-Island strike is settled. The masters and mates appear to have won practically every point demanded, and as previously pointed out they have had a powerful advantage all the way through the controversy.

Negotiations well begun yesterday were concluded this morning and the steamers are now leaving port manned by their former masters. The most important result is that the delay and inconvenience to the public is ended. The Inter-Island and the strikers may be relied upon to work out the details of their agreement, and these details should be worked out without another recurrence of this extremely unfortunate tie-up of public business.

The strikers certainly should have no further complaints to voice now. The travelling public and the business community look to both sides to unite in giving efficient service and in settling future disputes without holding up public business.

THE NEWS OF A NATION

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, of which Harry A. Wheeler of Chicago is president, will begin publishing "The Nation's Business" on September 2. This periodical will be distributed from Washington to the editorial writers of the nation and to the constituent members of the National Chamber of Commerce. It is intended to furnish a survey of the constructive progress of the nation along lines of agriculture, mining, manufacture, transportation, distribution and finance. It will be devoted to the news of progress and of organized promotion. It will include statistical statements of development and cover the bureaus of the government departments that are related to business and commercial activities at home and abroad.

Such an organ will also render service in the direction of nationalizing thought; for at present the man in California has but slight idea of what is going on of a constructive character in Maine; the man in Michigan has but slight idea of what is going on in Hawaii. In other words, by regarding progress matters throughout the nation as of interest to all the nation it will be part of the work of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to furnish progress information in such a way as to link all parts of the nation together in the patriotism of development.

The Star-Bulletin has made arrangements to secure this national news-service and the events of wide interest will be told of from time to time in the columns of this paper.

Orozco has again sued to President Madero for pardon for himself and his followers. It is pretty well understood that Orozco is worried because of his inability to get needed supplies of powder and shot, which is certainly enough to make any man fret engaged in the kind of a job Orozco has got.

Anybody by the name of Rockefeller securing information of graft for a grand jury furnishes interesting possibilities. Maybe they can get John, Jr., to dig into Standard Oil.

If the senate refuses the house demands on sugar, the recourse is easy. All the house members have to do is to resign, like the Inter-Island captains did.

England seems to be of the idea that the canal or the treaty will spring a leak if she doesn't have some say in the toll question.

With four women named on the Bull Moose national committee, somebody is going to be called a nature faker.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

W. C. ACHI—I do think that to the victors belong the spoils. It was on that theory I built up the Republican and buried the Home Rule party.

MORRIS ROSENLEDT—Besides attending the Republican national convention I visited the Yellowstone national park, and from now I am a strong advocate of making Kilauea a national park. Certainly Yellowstone park is the grandest sight of the kind in the world.

PEYTON GORDON—The great size of your midsummer tourist traffic astonishes me. Is this your tourist season, or is this an all-the-year-round condition? The ocean trip down here is the finest I have ever taken, however, and its popularity is deserved.

JUDGE WHITNEY—Judge Robinson surprised me. He has been threatening for the last four years to take a vacation, and I thought it was becoming a habit. But he finally made good when he departed for the Coast yesterday. He has earned the good time he has coming.

JUDGE A. A. WILDER—I expect to see a Democratic governor here after the presidential election, and then naturally the businessmen will not expect to be consulted about affairs, seeing that they did not think worth while in considering the Democrats while making up their list of available candidates.

J. W. PRATT—The San Francisco streets are splendid. They are covered with some patented compound and though smooth have a gritty surface or which horses will not slip. The streets are kept clean all the time by having trash and filth gathered up systematically and being washed down two or three times a week.

DAVID F. THURM—The resolution proposed and adopted by the Oahu Central Improvement Committee regarding the laying underground of gas, sewer, water pipes, and government and Hawaiian electric and telephone wires all at the same time, and before the streets are macadamized, certainly meets with my hearty approval. I for one desire to express by "komua," for I have voiced this same opinion six years ago to help make Honolulu more a center of civic beauty. "Down with all wires and poles."

PERSONALITIES

R. P. FAITHFUL, general manager and treasurer of the Honolulu Investment Company, who for four weeks has been visiting friends and relatives in San Francisco and Los Angeles while on a business trip to the Coast, will return to Honolulu on the Wilhelmina, July 31.—Los Angeles Times.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM GURWIN have changed their plans for staying at their home in Honolulu until fall, preferring the late summer in San Francisco. They will be here on the next steamship from Honolulu. Their plan annuls the plans of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Templeton Crocker and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Whitman, all of them remaining here. All of them are going to Del Monte for the sports season in September.—San Francisco Examiner.

BIG DECREASE THIS WEEK

For the week ended at noon today there was a decrease of $63,362.75 in transactions of the Honolulu Stock and Bond Exchange, as compared with last calendar week. This week the amount of business was $33,733, as compared with $147,095.75 last week, the latter having been an increase of $78,451.25 over the previous week.

The market continues firm, slight declines in some stocks being offset by advances in others. Between sessions Hawaiian Commercial eased down an eighth to 43.75 for a block of 200 shares. Dahu Sugar maintained 28 for 20 shares, and Hawaiian Sugar fell off a quarter point to 41.75 for two lots of 10 shares each.

On the board Onomes registered a seven-eighths rise to 17.75 for 15 and 30 shares, while Waiwala jumped up two and a half points to 127.50 for 10 shares.

Dividends were announced today as follows: Walluku, $1.50, or $45,000; Hutchinson, 20c, or $20,000; Pauuhau, 20c, or $20,000. Total, $85,000.

A full load of fertilizer was shipped to the Pacific coast today as cargo in the American schooner William H. Smith. This vessel was dispatched for San Pedro shortly after ten o'clock this morning, the fertilizer representing one of several consignments that have of late been forwarded to the coast.

Before sailing for the Southern California coast the Smith was cleaned and repainted.

BIG MORTARS TO HURL SHELLS AT TARGETS MONDAY

Firing to Begin at 11 O'Clock and Townspeople May Witness the Practice

Target practice for the Fort Ruger mortars is set for next Monday and the following Wednesday. Ten-record and four trial shots will be fired at a target to be towed at varying ranges by the navy tug Navajo, which is under orders to leave the navy slip at 9:30 a. m.

This will make it a little after 10 before the target is in position for the trial shots, and probably the record firing will not start until 11. As was the case last year, it is probable that many townspeople will make the trip to Diamond Head to see the big projectiles roar up from behind the crater and drop seaward. An excellent view of the moving target and the splash of the shots can be obtained from the road in front of Diamond Head, while those who wish to see the mortars served may get an idea of the operation from the post itself, although no one will be allowed very close to the pits.

Lieutenant Colonel Campbell is to be the umpire. His assistants will be Major Timberlake, district commander, who will observe the safety of the field of fire, Captain Clarke, who will be range observer on the tug, Lieutenant Pratt, timekeeper at the pits, and probably one or two non-commissioned officers.

BONDS ON WAY FOR SIGNATURE

Governor Frear has received word from Treasurer Conkling that the new bonds, 1500 in number, were mailed yesterday from New York to Henry C. Hapal, Registrar of Public Accounts, whose signature must be attached to make them valid.

There has been some delay in the preparation of these, owing to a tie-up at the Eastern paper mills, but they are now lithographed and on their way, and are due to reach here August 19. After Registrar Hapal has subscribed his signature 1500 times, he will rewrap the precious documents and hurry them back to the mails on the following day. They will reach New York again in ample time to permit Treasurer Conkling to attach his name and distribute them among the purchasers.

The manner in which the proceeds of the bond sale will be transferred to Honolulu is not yet decided. The Federal Treasury handled their last year, sending them to San Francisco and then turning them over to the War Department, which carried the cash to Honolulu by boat. This procedure saved the Territory a neat bit of money. Should the coin be forwarded through the banks the exchange would be large.

WICHMAN'S Leading Jewelers

The more times a man gets married the less sense he seems to have in picking a wife. A girl who I always picking quarrels may find it difficult to pick a husband. Most married men have to sprint in order to keep up with their running expenses. Prepare for an emergency and the chances are that it will fall to show up.
